

BISHOP GRATEFUL TO PEOPLE OF CITY

O'Connell, who was born and reared in the Charleston Diocese.
Reception To-Night.
Bishop O'Connell will meet the people of Richmond at a big public reception which will be held this evening between 8 and 10 o'clock in the McGill Catholic Union. It is intended to be an informal affair to which any one who desires to make the acquaintance of the new bishop, may come without the formality of full dress. No invitations have been issued. The general public, without regard to creed or religion, is invited through the press to call between the hours named.
At the episcopal and pastoral residence the resident priests and attaches were footsore and weary yesterday from the strenuous program of the preceding few days. To them, in large part, as well as to the efforts of the masters of ceremonies, belongs the chief credit for the smoothness and order with which the installation was accomplished. Particular credit goes to Father J. J. Bowler, who was, until the accession of Bishop O'Connell, administrator of the diocese; Father J. B. O'Reilly, pastor of the Sacred Heart Cathedral; Father Felix P. Kaup, chancellor of the diocese; and the music of the mass, and James T. Disney, who was chairman of the reception committee.

NINE PERSONS KILLED IN EXPLOSION OF GAS

Mine Settling Near Senanton, Pa., Almost Wipe Out an Entire Family.
Senanton, Pa., March 20.—In a gas explosion caused, it is thought, by mine settling, nine persons were killed and two injured early to-day in Dunmore, near here. Two families, comprising two women and seven children, were either blown to pieces in the explosion or burned in the fire that followed and destroyed three houses. The dead are: Mrs. John Cavalla and her five children, Rose, aged three years; Dominick, eight; Lucy, eleven; Lizzie, seventeen; and William, twenty; Mrs. Vito Summar, Mrs. Cavalla's daughter, and her two children, Mary, aged seven, and Frank, four.
The body of Mary Summar was found in the limbs of a tree fifty feet from the scene of the explosion a half-hour after the accident. More than twenty dwellings near the scene of the explosion were badly damaged by the concussion and the flying timbers and scores of persons were thrown out of their beds and bruised.
During the past week nine settlements in the neighborhood of the Cavalla home have caused alarm. Only a few days ago the cellar dropped out of a house on the opposite side of the street and several miners climbed to the surface on ladders let down by the women of the household.
The Dunmore police, after an investigation of the explosion, say that gas from a broken main, caused probably by the mine settling, found its way into the cellar of the Cavalla home, where it gathered in a dense volume and exploded when it came in contact with an oil lamp that was burning in the house.

Explanation of the Bull.

At the installation ceremonies three papal bulls were read. One of these was addressed to Cardinal Gibbons, another to Bishop O'Connell and another to the people of the diocese. The last is the one here reproduced. All of them are parchment manuscripts, carefully initialed by the papal scribe, and bear hand-painted marginal illuminations in color and decorative initial letters.
The bull derives its name from the leaden seal (Latin, "bulla") appended to it by a thread or band, which is red or yellow when the bull refers to matters of grace, and uncolored and of hemp when it refers to matters of justice. To the latter class belong the bulls read at the installation ceremonies. On one side of the seal appear the words "Plus Papa X." and on the other are the heads of St. Peter and St. Paul.
The bulls are always written in Latin, either in the ordinary cursive hand or in round Gothic characters. They always begin with the name of the Pope, followed by the term "episcopus" (bishop) and the words "servus servorum Dei" (servant of the servants of God) and a salutation, and close with the place and date of execution and subscription of the chancellor or other functionary of the papal chancery.
At the services in the cathedral next Sunday morning, Bishop O'Connell will read the bulls to the assembled people, carrying out the official command of His Holiness and completing the ceremonial of installation.

MORGAN AS BENEFACTOR
Makes Gift of $100,000 to the Peabody College for Teachers.
Nashville, Tenn., March 20.—An- nouncement was made here to-day that the late J. Pierpont Morgan had given to the Peabody College for Teachers, The trustees of the George Peabody fund agreed to give an additional $500,000 to the Southern college, pro- vided the college raises $1,000,000 by September 1, 1912. Mr. Morgan's con- tribution is to be a part of the million. Southern alumni have agreed to raise $200,000.
Grand Fork, N. D., March 20.—Theodore Roosevelt on late returns to-day, is cutting down Senator Robert M. La Follette's majority in yesterday's pre- ferential primary to between 11,000 and 12,000. Forty-four counties re- ported returns from 1,093 precincts out of 1,613 to-day, giving La Follette 22,548, and Roosevelt 14,929.
Out of forty-nine counties of the State Roosevelt was successful in carrying 15. La Follette receiving the remainder.
One county went to La Follette by a majority of only one.
La Follette's total majority in counties carried by him was 14,116, while the total majority for Roosevelt was 3,915 in his counties, leaving a differ- ence of 11,051.
Based on a total vote in the State of 52,000, La Follette has received from 26,000 to 27,000 votes, and Roosevelt from 15,000 to 16,000.
President Taft's vote from present indications will be less than 2,000.
Ask Speaker to Withdraw.
Des Moines, Iowa, March 20.—Sen- ator Thomas E. Gore of Oklahoma, to- day authorized the statement that Speaker Champ Clark is to be asked to withdraw in favor of Woodrow Wilson from participation in the Nebraska preferential primary.
Senator Gore and the Nebraska Pro- gressive League prior to the Bryan La Follette banquet last night adopted a resolution calling upon the speaker not to allow his name to go before the voters "in view of the rival candi- dates of Woodrow Wilson and Jud- son Harmon."
The resolution follows:
Resolved, That it is the sense of this conference that the continued candi- dacy of Speaker Clark for the prefer- ential vote to be given the Nebraska delegation to the Baltimore conven- tion in view of the rival candidacies of Wilson and Harmon may result in the success of Harmon, and thus endanger the cause of true Democracy, and that if Mr. Clark will withdraw his can- didacy in Nebraska, the Nebraska dele- gation to the convention, in the event Wilson cannot be nominated, will vote for Clark as its second choice.
Delegates Not Instructed.
Indianapolis, Ind., March 20.—In dis- trict conventions in this city to-night, Indiana Democrats elected delegates to the national convention. The delegates were not instructed, but in statements issued to-day, Bernard Korby, chair- man of the State committee, and other party leaders said the State conven- tion without opposition instructing the Indiana delegation to vote for Gov- ernor Thomas R. Marshall for the presidential nomination. The State committee also has endorsed his can- didacy. Four delegates at-large and a full State ticket are to be chosen at to-morrow's convention.

The Bull Freely Translated.

Plus Bishop, Servant of the Servants of God, to our beloved children the clergy and the people of the Cathedral Church of Richmond, health and apostolic benediction. In the plenitude of our apostolic power we this day relieve our venerable brother, Dennis J. O'Connell, from the office of titular Bishop of Sebastia, by which he has heretofore been held to the titular Sebastian church, and by the council of our venerable brothers, the holy Roman cardinals, we promote him to your Cathedral Church, Richmond, destitute at present of the consolation of a chief pastor, and elevate him to the see of the church. Wherefore we bind you all by obligation and exhort you that you devoutly receive Dennis, Bishop, as father and pastor of your souls, and that you will give to his salutary admonitions and commands due obedience, so that he may find in you faithful children and that you may find in him a benevolent father. We will, therefore, and command that in his office as ordinary and ruler of your diocese, he shall publicly read these letters to the people in the Cathedral Church on the festival day when he shall first pontificate.
Given at Rome, at St. Peter's, in the year of our Lord nineteen hun- dred and twelve, the nineteenth day of the month of January, in the ninth year of our pontificate, Pius Pontifex.
A. Cardinal Aglardi, Chancellor of the Holy Roman Church, Testified to by the notary apostolic, P. Manzi, apostolic scribe.

LIVES OF 105 MEN ARE SNUFFED OUT

They Are Killed by Explosion in Coal Mine in Okla- homa.
TOWN IS IN MOURNING
No Hope Remains That Any of Entombed Miners Are Alive.
McCurain, Okla., March 20.—One hundred and five lives are accepted to- night as an approximately correct estimate of the human toll taken this morning when mine No. 2 of the Sans Bois Coal Company here was wrecked by an explosion. Of 116 men of the day shift only eleven are known to be alive while the others are entombed behind the debris. In the opinion of government experts and mine officials they are dead, and a special train which brought physicians and nurses from Fort Smith, Ark., to-day returned to-night. Five physicians remained with the faint hope that some of the imprisoned men might be found alive. Among those unaccounted for are a surveying party headed by W. D. Roper, of Okla. South Carolina. Forty- three Americans were employed in the mine.
The explosion occurred shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. Those on the surface heard a faint rumble and felt an earth tremor. When those nearest the mouth of the mine reached the opening a cloud of dust and smoke belched forth.
Then came tense moments of waiting for the men in the mine to emerge. Frank Fields, a miner, was the first to stagger out. He was walking in an entranced and dazed condition, he said. He jumped into a side room and the explosion passed and he made his way to the mine opening. Nine other miners escaped through a "man way." A "rope rider," who was coming to the surface when the explosion occurred was the eleventh man to escape.
Superintendent Brown, of the coal company, led the first rescue party into the mine, but they could proceed no further than the sixth level because of the accumulation of debris, and returned to the surface with the body of John Colwas, a seventeen-year-old youth.
In the meantime, heartrending scenes were enacted at the mine open- ing, where hundreds of women and children had gathered. Throughout the afternoon, while rescue work was halted awaiting the arrival of mine experts from the government station at McAlester, Okla., they remained about the opening.
Practically every home in the camp has one or more members buried in the mine. The systematic work of penetrating the mine began early to- night, and the first half of the half- hundred rescuers, who were working in relays, brought four bodies out of the mine. The bearers of the bodies passed between rows of grief-stricken relatives, who clamored for a view of the dead. The bodies were blackened and buried, and practically unrecog- nizable. Confusion was so great that it was impossible to determine definitely their identity.
At 8 o'clock it was reported that the rescuing party had found sixteen mere bodies which would be brought out by midnight. This would be the last trip of the rescuing party in the mine to- night.
Superintendent Brown stated to- night that the force and extent of the explosion was such that only by the re- mote possibility could any of the en- tombed men be alive. The mine man- chinery is operated by compressed air and there are three small pumps in different sections of the mine. The pumps exhaust pure air. If the force of the explosion and flames did not kill all of the men there is a remote chance that some of them are being kept alive by these fresh currents. To this one slim chance the relatives and friends of the entombed men cling with pitiful hope and pray. The cause of the ex- plosion resulted, according to mine ex- perts, from either accumulated gas or coal dust. The Sans Bois property is owned by the Fort Smith and Western Railroad Company.
BODY OF UNKNOWN MAN FOUND IN ELIZABETH RIVER
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Norfolk, Va., March 20.—The body of an unknown man was found in the Elizabeth River this morning. At first it was thought to be William H. Land, the real estate dealer, who has been missing since last Thursday, but a close inspection proved it was not he. The right side of the man's face was crushed in and there was a stab in his neck. A small rope was tied around the waist and one leg, indicating that the body had been weighted to the bottom.
It is now believed that the man was Captain E. C. Clavette, of the barge "Thaxter," who disappeared March 8. Captain Clavette started on that date to Newport News to get a check cashed. His launch was found upset

LIFE NEARLY EBBED AWAY

But Daughter Helps to Restore Sick Mother Again to Health and Duty

Highwood, Mich.—"I was in a serious condition, and my life was nearly gone," writes Mrs. Clara Avery, of this place, "but I am feeling well now, as the result of having taken Cardui, the woman's tonic.
My sufferings extended over many years, and were made up of female troubles, such as backache, pain in my side, and dreadful dizzy spells.
I was all run down and hardly able to drag around when my oldest daughter got me a bottle of Cardui.
I had no faith in it, but took it never- theless, and before I had finished half a bottle I got better. Now I am well and able to do my work."
Women who have to drudge away at their own household often have to suffer from the results of overstrained wo- manly organs.
It should be a comfort for them to know that for such pains and weakness there is at hand, on every druggist's shelf, a remedy in Cardui, the Woman's Tonic.
This successful tonic, prepared from nature's harmless herbs, aids nature in building up strength for the worn-out womanly frame.
It relieves the symptoms. It reaches the cause. It helps to make you well. Try Cardui.

Carl Morris Outpointed.
New York, March 20.—Jim Stewart, the Brooklyn heavyweight, outpointed Carl Morris, of Oklahoma, in a ten-round bout at the Empire Athletic Club to-night. Stewart's work was cleaner-cut than that of Morris, the Brooklyn- ite landing straight lefts to the face and occasionally a right to the body and right upper cuts, while Morris depended a great deal on infighting.
